

Southern New England stumpage survey

Comments. First quarter, 2009

Having trouble getting trucks from Quebec - markets fair

Terrible trends.

By Feb, no one would even take logs, lost my shirt, XXXXX gave me $150/Th trucked in to the mill, PS should have been F.W.P.S. This sucks

Timber price way down

prices would be great if oil would go back up again

Falling! Bleak! Both sales were Feb., both started, both stopped due to canceled orders, both were loggers/brokers - most mills did not bid.

Cherry market dead, other species dying.

Have good market with local residents with outdoor boilers, - use 20% softwood & poplar.

Since lump sum, and since buyer isn't offering specifics (not required), the info above won't be as helpful as it might be to your mission of updating this quarter...however, what I can offer is that the sale price is +/- 50% higher than all offers during the period April 2007 -> now (major market crash, as you would know) and that since buyer has a chip market (both H + S), it helped gain $$$$$.
